As of September 1st, Vgate has updated their software to the latest release that includes a number of great new features. This article will go over these new features and why they are exciting for business owners. -New Zoom function! This enables you to zoom in on any part of your scanned product, whether it's a barcode or label, so you can actually read the text. -Better quality images! This is one feature that is essential for business owners - it allows for larger scans so there's less cropping during uploading to your online store/website. It also improves clarity and color accuracy. -Improved batch function. -Ability to add notes/comments on the product page for each item. -Export your data to other applications, such as Excel. If you're already using Vgate, the great thing about the update is that you will have all of your scanned data in a single file for easy offsite backup and storage. If you don't have a Vgate account yet, here's a free 1-month trial offer!

Vgate Inc was founded in April 2000 by Chang Seng Hong and Jack Liew Wing Chee. The company started out making software that efficiently scanned barcodes into electronic documents, such as Microsoft Word documents. The company was profitable from the very beginning, and its stock price increased by 155% in 2003.

Vgate's growth continued into 2004, with a 91% increase in profits and a 1254% increase in stock price. In 2004, Vgate posted US$100 million in revenue and was the No. 18 software developer in Singapore. Their business exploded in 2005, with revenue of US$203 million and a 188% increase in stock price.

In 2007, Vgate has doubled our size (now we're over 800 people). In the past 4 years, we have become a worldwide leader in mobile barcode scanning applications, with more than 2 million users around the world. We have also been included 3 times on the Deloitte Technology Fast 500 Asia Pacific list of top technology companies.

In 2010, Vgate has reached an amazing accomplishment – over 5 million users around the globe, including our largest user base in North America. On top of that, we were honored as a semifinalist for a Global award from Ernst & Young and for a national award from Deloitte & Touche.

In 2011, Vgate started to expand into new markets and business models. We were ready to launch our new mobile hardware solution, with a zero-touch enrollment and QR code based products for small and midsize business (SMBs) and large enterprises (LEs).

In 2012, Vgate continues to expand and drive growth. We continue to offer a unique value proposition by providing software solutions for all barcode types; we've expanded our product lineup to include fixed-price products; we continue to develop new business models such as our multi-functional intelligent mobile device; and we continue to pursue opportunities in the United States markets. Vgate was named an Ernst & Young Global Technology "Fast 500" finalist for 2011, ranked No.
